I am not aware of the soil being tested by EPA in the past, given that the Church is well outside of the area utilized by Ford for disposal. Keep in mind that the unpaved parking lot was likely utilized prior to the ban of leaded gasoline. I wouldn't be surprised to see elevated levels of lead in the parking lot soil due to its pre-1980 use.

Joe,

Sorry to keep emailing you, but I'm getting information in drips.

Has the soil been tested at the Good Shepherd, if not, shouldn't it be? The Boro is planning to pave over the lot.
